Veronica Winters

Veronica Winters, MFA, is a portrait artist, instructor, curator, and book author who paints a powerful connection between humans and the universe through her figurative oil paintings and colored pencil drawings. Symbolic and influenced by classical artistic traditions, Winters' work serves as a tool—for herself and her viewers alike—to experience the healing potential of painting. In color, figure, and symbols, the artist paints a relationship that exists between humanity and higher consciousness, helping people connect to themselves to feel balanced, inspired, and at peace. Winters combines her imagination, realist training, and divine guidance creating visual stories in art. She shares the amazing interconnectedness of the universe to create a more loving world. The artist is nationally recognized for her colored pencil drawing with the publication of the art instruction books titled The Colored Pencil Manual and How to Color Like an Artist by Dover Publications. Veronica's art and writing has been published in numerous magazines and art books, including Strokes of Genius, Leisure Painter, Colored Pencil Magazine, The Guide Artists, The Artist, The American Art Collector, and the International Artist Magazine. The artist studied art at OSU (BFA), Penn State (MFA), the Grand Central Academy of Art and the Art Students League in New York. Veronica Winters' art gallery and studio are located in Naples, Florida.
